Your request:

The CCC states in its latest report that it hopes that almost 100% of new car sales will be electric by 2030.

Does the CCC have a forecast of how many cars will be on the road in 2050 and what percentage of all cars on the road will be electric? (Obviously not all cars will be electric).

[name redacted]

Our response:

Thank you for your request. We have handled your request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA).

Estimated number of cars on the road in 2050: 43,601,400

Estimated percentage of cars on the road that will be electric: 99.9%

The CCC holds this data - this data is available in the data set for our Sixth Carbon Budget advice report, available on our website.

Information disclosed in response to this FOIA request is releasable to the public. In keeping with the spirit and effect of the FOIA and the government's Transparency Agenda, this letter and the information disclosed to you may be placed on the CCC website, together with any related information that will provide a key to its wider context. No information identifying you will be placed on the CCC website.

If you are dissatisfied with the handling of your request, you have the right to ask for an internal review. If you are not content with the outcome of the review, you may apply directly to the Information Commissioner for a decision. In keeping with our transparency policy, the information released to you will be published on www.theccc.org.uk.
